Victoria has her secret, and Derek Jeter has his too. Last night, Jeter and a coterie of his athlete-friends came out to celebrate Revolutionwear's FRIGO pop-up shop. The purveyor of high-tech skivvies brought out Lala and Carmelo Anthony, and baseball pros Freddie Freeman and Jason Heyward. Also in attendance? Our BFF Kelly Bensimon, who didn't mind taking some time out to admire the undies (and the gents who wear them) on display.

Jeter, currently out with an injury, had his sister Sharlee in tow with him for the night, and the brother-sister duo briefly strolled the red carpet before having a chat with rapper Timbaland. Freeman and Heyward kept to themselves downstairs hanging in the "vintage game room" playing foosball and pool.

Get in on the secret quick, the pop-up located in the Meatpacking District is only around till November 26th. 402 West 13th Street, New York
